PREFACE

The Pennsylvania Department of Education, Bureau of Career and Technical Education (BCTE), has compiled this resource guide which lists industry-recognized certifications for career and technical programs in Pennsylvania's career clusters.

The goal of the resource guide is to assist schools with the sometimes-difficult process of identifying organizations that provide industry-recognized certification. The guide is organized by career cluster. There is an additional table that appears on Page 41 after the career cluster tables. The additional table contains certifications that may be applicable to multiple clusters or programs.

Within each cluster listed in this resource guide, programs appear in CIP Code order with information about the accompanying certification(s). Most importantly, each certification description includes a link to the issuing organization's website. The various websites provide more detailed information about the certifications, including cost, available resources, and certification requirements.

With the assistance of Program Specialists at BCTE and educators throughout Pennsylvania, we have attempted to identify a comprehensive list of industry-recognized certifications. However, this guide will continue to be a work in progress.

The resource guide is available on the BCTE website (<http://www.pde.state.pa.us>). As the Bureau's Program Specialists, along with industry representatives, identify the one or two recommended certifications in each program, those certifications will be noted. We encourage users of the industry certification resource guide to frequently check the BCTE website for guide updates.

General comments or questions about the resource guide should be directed to cygross@state.pa.us. Comments or questions regarding program-specific certifications should be directed to the Program Specialists:
